

IMPROVEMENT OF SERVICE MAPPING METHODOLOGY BASED ON GIS

Introduction. Socio-economic cartography is one of the multidisciplinary and rapidly developing areas of modern cartography. In this, the design and creation of service maps has a special place. Service maps, or in other words, population service maps, are of particular importance for their educational, scientific and practical importance. In recent years, with the growing social demand for such cards, the need to print them has also increased somewhat.

Full text