
REGIONAL ASPECTS OF MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH IN UZBEKISTAN

Introduction. Human health is one of the most important issues for any period of social development. Indeed, the state of development of any country is determined by the level of health and literacy of the population living in the region. These two indicators reflect the role of states in the world community and their socio-economic potential.

Full text